BIOS and Firmware

Compromised and out-of-date firmware can leave a device and network vulnerable to attack.

Control Panel

Canny operators can change settings and exploit device functions, unless the device is carefully monitored.

Input Tray

Special media - such as watermarked paper - can be tampered with or stolen.

Mobile Printing

Employees, out in the field, can expose data to security vulnerabilities by printing on unsecure devices.

Multi-Function

Unsecured MFP (multi-function printers) can be exploited to send data anywhere.

Network

Jobs -and sensitive documents - can be intercepted enroute to and from a device in an unsecure network.

Output Tray

Uncollected items are vulnerable, anyone can see them or take them.

Ports

Unsecured ports (whether it be USB connectors or network access) can put the device's security at risk.

Scanner

Sharing functions like scan-to-cloud or scan- to-email can be vulnerable to exploitation.

Storage

The printer stores the information it prints or scans - this can be insecure.

Closing security vulnerabilities in devices data and documents.

Critical gaps may exist in your imaging and printing environment. Find secure business solutions to address these risks with HP and ABC.

Embedded device protection

Helping companies defend their network from criminals, hackers and shady characters.

1. HP SureStart

Which checks BIOS integrity with every start-up, self-diagnoses and self-heals any vulnerabilities.

2. HP Secure White Listing

Our devices will only load validated and known firmware.

3. HP Run time Intrusion Detection

Constant self-monitored for malicious attacks, any incursion is immediately flagged-up to SIEM (Security Incident and Event Management).

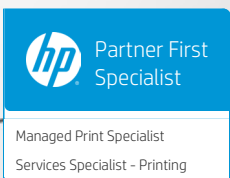

Secure print self-assessment

It costs nothing, and saves you everything

We want to speak to YOU. It will cost nothing. ABC will give you a full assessment of how secure your print, document and IT infrastructure is.

Then we'll tell you how to:

Safeguard your entire network | Streamline workflow processes | Achieve best practices | Foster regulatory compliance
